

News Update:

1/19/2009

Recently, J-wheelz was featured in a news story on KDLT television out of Sioux Falls, SD. KDLT did a great job of summarizing our company history and progress into a short video. We have hosted their video on our web page and you can watch it by clicking on this link.

In other news we are finally starting to conclude our production schedule. Since the fire at our previous supplier's facility we have selected a new company out of Fort Madison, IA and it looks like we should be on time for our launch date in late February. Thank you for your continued interest and support!
